
SARAH LEONE

224-725-0669
sarahmleone@gmail.com

237 Custer Ave
Evanston, IL 60202

Profile

An enthusiastic and creative web developer who works well with other talented IT professionals in creating high quality websites. Especially talented in communicating well within teams and staying on top of industry trends such as accessibility, usability, and emerging technologies.

Experience

Web Developer, Northwestern University; Evanston, IL — 2019-Present

Worked dynamically with IT and Marketing professionals to build, revamp, test, debug, and deploy 12+ websites for programs and departments across the McCormick School of Engineering. Experienced using CMS Cascade with HTML, CSS, XSL, and JavaScript. Responsible for troubleshooting ticket requests for maintaining sites, sending mass emails and other IT needs.

Teaching Assistant, Northwestern University; Evanston, IL — 2017-2019

Taught students ranging from 4th-8th grade computer programming and math in for the Center for Talent Development. Computer languages included HTML, CSS, C++, Python, and Java. Evaluated student development.

Customer Service Representative, Spothero; Chicago, IL — 2017-2018

Solved a wide range of customer challenges with empathy and efficiency; highest overall performing representative for the month of November and consistent high QA performance for persona throughout career. Participant in mentorship program with Senior Engineer.

Project Manager, Center for Food Safety; Los Angeles, CA — 2015-2016

Developed, implemented, and managed project plans and timelines for all Hollywood Food Guild programs.

Education

University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign — BA, 2006

Certificates

Northwestern School of Professional Studies — Full Stack Boot Camp, 2018

Duke University — Engineering Fundamentals Specialization, 2017

McMaster University — Learning How to Learn, 2017

Professional Technology Summary (complete list on request)

HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, JavaScript, XSL, CMS Cascade & Wordpress, Full-Stack
